OBJECTIVES

- * Identify basic scientific assumptions and theoretical frameworks central to TT.
- * Discuss research of over 30 years validating the effectiveness of TT in immunity, stress, pain, wound/fracture healing, burns, bereavement, childbirth & to diminish the side effects of chemotherapy & radiation, among many other benefits
- * Apply the phases of the TT process during supervised practice sessions
- * Discuss implementation of TT in various clinical practices and for personal health.

Therapeutic Touch (TT) is a scientific intervention, first taught at New York University in 1972 by Dolores Krieger, PhD, RN. TT is an intentional and consciously directed process of energy exchange practiced by many healthcare professionals, & utilized in well over 200 colleges, hospices & medical centers in the US alone. Shirley is an advanced, qualified TT teacher and mentor credentialed by the Nurse Healers-Professional Associates International TT Teachers' Cooperative, the official organization of Therapeutic Touch. She has taught this method to 1000's of health care professionals, and also co-teaches with Dr. Krieger in the US East and West Coast TT Mentorship Programs. A pioneer in Integrative (Mind-Body) Healthcare, Shirley was appointed to the University of South Florida College of Nursing as a courtesy instructor, is a published author and lectures nationally on integrative health care topics. As a qualified TT teacher and mentor, Shirley assists practitioners to attain international credentialing as Qualified Therapeutic Touch Practitioners (QTTP). A former ICU nurse and Director of Nurses, Shirley has strong clinical and administrative experience. She is also a Hospice nurse.
