OBJECTIVES

- ◆ Identify basic scientific assumptions and theoretical frameworks central to TT.
- ◆ Learn TT and apply the phases of the TT process during supervised practice sessions
- ◆ Learn how to incorporate TT into clinical practice and for personal health.
- ◆ Discuss research of over 30 years validating the effectiveness of TT in pain, immunity, stress, wound/fracture healing, burns, bereavement, childbirth & to diminish the side effects of chemotherapy & radiation, among many other benefits

*Therapeutic Touch (TT) is a scientific intervention, first taught at New York University in 1972 by Dolores Krieger, PhD, RN. TT is a transpersonal nursing process that utilizes the hands to balance the energetic field surrounding us. It is a consciously directed process of energy exchange practiced by many healthcare professionals. TT is utilized in over 200 colleges, hospices, & medical centers in the US alone. Shirley is an advanced, qualified TT teacher and mentor credentialed by Therapeutic Touch International Associates TT Teachers' Cooperative, the official organization of Therapeutic Touch. Since 1985, she has taught this method to 1000's of health care professionals and was selected by Dr Krieger as Director for the Annual US East Coast TT Mentorship Invitational. As a qualified TT teacher and mentor, Shirley assists practitioners to attain international credentialing as Qualified Therapeutic Touch Practitioners (QTTP). She is a pioneer in Integrative Healthcare, published author, international lecturer, former faculty at University of South Florida College of Nursing, and also a Hospice nurse. See Articles on Therapeutic Touch by Shirley Spear Begley at www.IHCS.com online. Also see IHCSonline.com for More Information on TT, integrative healthcare, or Shirley's qualifications.
